Description: (attach supplementary materials if needed)

One of my favourite worships is one where I show the students a card that has the bottom half covered up, but the top half appears to reveal that the covered word is SCIENCE. The students confidently identify the word as SCIENCE. I compliment their perceptiveness and talk about how wonderful our brain is to fill in what is missing. Then I uncover the bottom, and they see that they were wrong.

What is really written is something like 5GLFNSF. (see illustration below)

Then I talk about being deceived or not judging appearances too quickly, etc.

5GLFNSF
SCIENCE
