

Q & A

Can I get Professional Development Credit for these webinars? Yes! List the session information (Title, Date of Session, Date of Viewing, Length of Session) on the "Application for Non-Academic Credit" form that you turn in to the conference at the end of the school year.

Do I need high-speed Internet? The faster your Internet speed, the better your experience will be. Slow speed will especially affect your audio quality.

Can more than one person take part on the same computer? Yes! Connect an LCD project to your computer and share the session with as many as you'd like!

What are the computer requirements?
Computer
Internet connection
Speakers (if connecting VOIP)
Phone - if dialing in

What if I miss a webinar that I really want to watch? We record and archive all of our sessions. Check the TDEC site for those session links.

SEPTEMBER 20 TEACHERSFIRST.COM

PRESENTER MELISSA HENNING FROM TEACHERSFIRST.COM

Discover TeachersFirst 3.0 to inspire new ways of thinking about lessons, student learning, and the web. This session will briefly share the teacher-friendly features of TeachersFirst 3.0 to help you save time and envision new ways for students to learn using the tools of the web. Participants will be encouraged to seek specific solutions and ask questions to meet their own classroom needs. It's OK2Ask®.

OCTOBER 18 THINGLINK.COM & SOPHIA.ORG

PRESENTERS NEIL VINEBERT FROM THINGLINK.COM

TAYLOR PETTIS FROM SOPHIA.ORG

Meet ThingLink, a popular tool that makes it easy for teachers to create enriched learning experiences with interactive photos. Teachers can use ThingLink images as interactive learning modules (ILMs) that activate and inspire students with creative and engaging learning experiences. Neil will show ThingLink images created by teachers, demonstrate how to edit images, and share helpful "how-to" resources created by teachers and librarians. All attendees will get a free upgrade to ThingLink PLUS ($60 value).

SOPHIA is a first-of-its-kind social education platform created to reach 21st century students: digital natives who grew up with Facebook, Wikipedia and YouTube in a highly interactive and personalized digital world. SOPHIA is the perfect place for anyone to share what they know. Whether an educator, tutor, professor, parent or subject expert, SOPHIA makes it easy to share your knowledge and make it available to anyone, anywhere, at anytime.
